(1892-1972)

Padmashri Dr. S R Ranganathan
Father of Library Science

Five Laws of Library Science

- 1. Books are for Use
- 2. Every Reader His/Her Book
- 3. Every Book its Reader
- 4. Save the Time of the Reader
- 5. A Library is a Growing Organism

INTRODUCTION

Padmashri Dr S R Ranganathan (1892-1972) was a visionary and an institution in himself who earned accolades around the world for his in depth knowledge and development of library science education in India. His incessant endeavour, innovative ideas, laborious commitment, determination and dedication earned him many titles and rewards and the greatest bestowed upon him was the Padmashri award by Government of India in 1957.

To mark the achievements of Padmashri Dr S R Ranganathan, the Department had installed a marble bust on 31st July, 2008 which was unveiled by our Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Deepak Pentel. To pay tribute and homage to the great visionary and luminary of library science on his 117th Birth Anniversary, the Department is organising a one-day National Seminar to commemorate the life, role, importance, philosophy and works of such a great legend.

OBJECTIVES

1. To explore the relevance of Ranganathan's philosophy in electronic environment
2. To disseminate his teaching and preaching
3. To reminiscence his contribution for growth and development of LIS profession
4. To inculcate the Ranganathan's legacy and vision in future generation; and
5. To pay tribute and homage to Padmashri Dr S R Ranganathan on his 117th birth anniversary.

DEPARTMENT OF LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE

The Department of Library and Information Science instituted in 1946, is organized in the Faculty of Arts. The (late) Dr S.R. Ranganathan and (late) Professor S. Das Gupta, renowned librarians and teachers in Library Science took the initiative for establishing this Department, and it was for the first time in the country that a Library Science Department was constituted at par with other teaching departments in this University. The Department completed its Golden Jubilee in 1996-97 by organizing a national seminar, which was attended by eminent Library and Information Science professionals.

The Department has also been recognized as an Associated Project of UNESCO. It is housed in the Tutorial Building, adjacent to the University Central Library. For a long time, this was the only Department in the country which, in addition to the B.L.I.Sc. degree was providing education and research facilities at higher levels leading to the M.L.I. Sc., M. Phil. and Ph.D. degrees.

The Department during the past 60 years of its existence has played a significant role in Library Science education in the country as whole. Already about 3248 students have taken their Library Science degree from this Department. Out of whom about 2108 students obtained Postgraduate Diploma in Library Science/ Bachelor's degree in Library Science; 1006 Master's degree in Library Science / Master's Degree in Library and Information Science; and 88 M. Phil. Degrees and 46 Ph.Ds in Library and Information Science. Old students are occupying senior professional positions not only in India but also outside the country.
