Library and Information Science Education

The Sir Dorabji Tata Memorial Library, Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS), Mumbai and the Indian Association of Teachers in Library and Information Science (IATLIS) proudly confer the Best LIS School Award on the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Delhi, for its exceptional dedication to shaping the future of library science education and research.

Founded by the visionary Padma Shri Dr. S. R. Ranganathan, the department has consistently set a benchmark for excellence in academic rigor, professional ethics, and transformative pedagogy. Through its innovative teaching methodologies, impactful research, and unwavering commitment to the ideals of librarianship, the department has nurtured generations of professionals who have significantly contributed to the advancement of knowledge and society.

This award is a recognition of the department's efforts to bridge tradition with modernity, fostering an environment where the timeless principles of librarianship meet the demands of an ever-evolving information landscape.

As the inaugural recipient of this award, your department's achievements serve as an inspiration to the entire LIS community, reaffirming the importance of academic excellence, innovation, and leadership in shaping the profession's future.
